For Immediate Release: Grand Junction Regional Airport Celebrates the Return of Two Seasonal Routes

Grand Junction Regional Airport (GJT) announces the return of two seasonal routes for 2023. Beginning February 17, 2023, passengers will be able to fly nonstop on Allegiant Airlines from Grand Junction Regional Airport to Mesa, AZ (AZA). This is a popular flight for Mesa County travelers, providing a low-cost option for traveling to and from the Phoenix/Mesa area.

On June 1, 2023, Allegiant will resume nonstop service from Grand Junction Regional Airport (GJT) to Los Angeles, CA (LAX), offering an easy, affordable flight to the West Coast playground.

Both routes are scheduled to be flown twice weekly. Western Slope travelers who wish to take advantage of these nonstop flights for travel this spring and summer should book early, as both routes are very popular.

“We are excited to welcome back these seasonal routes,” stated Angela Padalecki, Executive Director of the Grand Junction Regional Airport. “We are optimistic about growth at the airport in 2023, as travel demand remains high and airlines continue to recover following the pandemic. Seasonal routes serve a critical role in connecting our community to top destinations during periods of highest demand.”

Currently, travelers can book travel from Grand Junction Regional Airport to six nonstop destinations: Denver (DEN), Dallas (DFW), Phoenix (PHX), Las Vegas (LAS), Mesa (AZA), and Los Angeles (LAX), plus hundreds of other destinations with just one connection.
